2022-2023

On October 11, 2022, in commemoration of International Day of the Girl Child, the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) of our college orchestrated a significant event centered around raising awareness against sexual harassment. The event served as a platform to engage our students in critical discussions and creative expression. Students took the initiative to showcase their insightful chart works, focusing on the pivotal topics of sexual harassment awareness and the importance of safeguarding the girl child.

Adding depth to the occasion, H. Hashmi Parisha from the III B.Com Batch I and S. Rahumal from II B.Sc. Computer Science eloquently delivered talks shedding light on the importance of vigilance against anti-sexual harassment. The event resonated as a powerful testament to our college's commitment to fostering a safe and inclusive environment, nurturing discussions that empower our students to be agents of change and advocates for gender equality.

On January 24, 2023, our college observed the International Day of Education with a special focus on valuing the girl child. The Ministry of Women and Child Development has designated January 24 as National Girl Child Day (NGCD), annually. In alignment with these significant occasions, the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) and the Department of Chemistry at AHCW collaboratively orchestrated a vibrant celebration on the same day. The event aimed to honour education's global importance and to highlight the significance of empowering the girl child.

Dr. A. Jayashree, the Head of the Department of Commerce of AHCW, graced the occasion as the guest speaker. In her engaging lecture titled "How to Live a Happy Life in College," she not only shared insights on leading a fulfilling college life but also addressed the critical topic of anti-sexual harassment. Through her discourse, attendees gained valuable understanding about the repercussions of such harassment and strategies to effectively combat it. This celebration not only showcased our commitment to education and gender equality but also emphasized the pivotal role of educators in shaping holistic student experiences.
